

KEVIN WORAM

9300 Hazen Dr.
Los Angeles, CA 90210
(214) 728-6066 (cell)
kww4eg@virginia.edu

Research Interests

Political and Economic History of the Roman Empire, Greek and Roman Epigraphy, Greek Religion

Education

American School of Classical Studies at Athens Regular Member Program (Athens, Greece) 2019-2020

Currently visiting archaeological sites throughout Greece, attending a seminar on Greek Urbanism, and conducting dissertation research

University of Virginia PhD in Ancient History Program (Charlottesville, VA) Degree Expected 2023

PhD Candidate in Ancient History

Dissertation (in progress) titled: "Marketplace Overseers in the Provincial Cities of the Roman Empire: Aediles, Agoranomoi and Maintaining Public Order"

MA in Ancient History received 2018

MA Thesis titled: "The Naupaktos Decree: East Lokrians and Religious Community"

Tulane University Master of Arts in Classical Studies Program (New Orleans, LA) 2016

MA in Classical Studies received

MA Thesis titled: "The Community of the Matronae Cult in the Roman Rhineland: An Example of a Provincial Identity in the Western Frontiers"

Georgetown University Classics Post-Baccalaureate Program (Washington, DC) 2014

Certificate of study in Latin and Ancient Greek received

Dartmouth College (Hanover, NH) 2013

BA in Classical Languages and Literature with a minor in Ancient History received

Grants

Dissecting Cultural Pluralism Lab (University of Virginia) Travel Grant 2018, 2019

History Department (University of Virginia) Research Funding Grant 2017, 2019

Foreign Language Knowledge

Reading, Writing, and Speaking: Italian and German

Reading and Writing: French, Spanish, and Modern Greek

Reading: Ancient Greek and Latin

Speaking: Japanese

Scholarly Presentations

Boston University Department of Classical Studies Graduate Student

Conference: "Identity Under Empire" 2018

Presented a paper titled, "The Matronae Cult of the Roman Rhineland: Religion, Identity and Creolization in a Provincial Context"

Louisiana Classics Association Conference October 2015

Presented a paper titled, "The Roman Military Marriage Ban: Re-examining its Actual Effects on Soldiers' Lives"

Teaching Experience

University of Virginia Teaching Assistant 2017-2019

Lead discussions, wrote assignments, and graded for courses on Greek History, Roman History, and Economic History of the Islamic World

Tulane University Teaching Assistant 2014-2016

Lectured and graded for courses on Greek History, Roman History, and Classical Mythology

Tutored Greek and Latin

Dartmouth College Tutor 2012-2013

Tutored Greek and Latin

Departmental Service

University of Virginia Graduate History Student Association 2018-2019

Served on the social committee responsible for organizing social events for the department

Served on the professionalization committee responsible for organizing new TA training